MUSSOLINI FIGHTS SANCTIONS WITH WAR DIET

Superior Court Jury Panel Again Is Challenged by Attorney Meyer

LEGALITY OF PICKING IS QUESTIONED

Judge Allen Declines To Disqualify Self On Lawyer's Plea

DENIES ALL MOTIONS

Attack On Methods Is Made As H. B. Man's Trial Is Begun

Legality of the present court jury panel was attacked again today and as in the first attack the question was raised by N. D. Meyer, Santa Ana attorney.

Challenging the entire county panel, prior to starting the trial of E. J. Miller, Huntington Beach, arrested on a morals charge, Mr. Meyer asked Presiding Judge James L. Allen to disqualify himself from hearing the motion on the grounds that it was Judge Allen who selected the jury.

Judge Allen refused to either disqualify himself or hear evidence to prove that the jury was not chosen in compliance with the law, on the grounds that the motion must be tried on affidavits and not direct evidence.

Contends Just 2 Present

Legality of the present jury panel was first challenged by Mr. Meyer in the trial of Frank Rosa and Faustino Saucido, accused of a statutory charge. Following conviction of the pair, Mr. Meyer appealed the case to the fourth district court of appeals, with the jury challenge as a basis for the appeal.

The particular grounds on which the new challenge was based was that, under the law, a majority of the superior court judges must participate in selection of the panel. Mr. Meyer contended that when the panel was drawn no one was present except Judge Allen and his clerk.

In his motion, which was denied, he pointed out that the 200 jurors selected to serve during 1935 were drawn from a box containing the names of approximately 700 persons who had applied for appointment on the jury. The other naming them to serve, he contended, was signed by Judge Allen alone.

Wants Disqualification

In denying the motion Judge Allen said that the selection had been made by himself and Judge G. K. Scovel of department 3, superior court.

LIGHT RAINS IN SOUTHLAND

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29. (AP) — Light rains fell in parts of Southern California today, and as strong westerly winds whipped the coast the weather bureau issued storm warnings to small craft.

Following closely on the forest and brush fires that denuded about 100 square miles of mountain and foothill land last week, the rains were expected to end definitely the fire hazard that has necessitated maintenance of CCC crews in the burned-over area since the flames were brought under control.

Tell Your Friends:

Doubtless you have observed during the past few months something of the growth of public confidence which your newspaper, The Journal, has enjoyed.

Probably you are aware of the fact that the entire county is talking about The Journal—its completeness, its fairness, its honesty. Probably too, you have been entertained as well as informed, by bright features and unusual news stories, a new kind of journalism which you had hoped for but hardly dared expect.

It is likely you remember some of the pledges made by this newspaper before it was published—pledges of good faith, good-nature, fidelity. Probably you have noticed they have all been made good and are being lived up to every day. You have observed that the news is not garbled or distorted and that regardless of what editorial opinions The Journal might have, its news reflected only that which happened and not what the editor wished might happen.

This, we take it, is the kind of newspaper you will welcome to your home for many years to come. A word from you to your friends about The Journal and its high standard, will be a gift worth while.

And by the way, there is a combination subscription offer being made just now which will interest you and your friends. In brief it is The Journal and three magazines for 65 cents a month.

FARM LEADER FLOOD TAKES PROMOTED MANY LIVES

E. E. Eastman, Aide To Advisor Wahlberg Gets S. D. Post

Assistant Farm Advisor Eric E. Eastman is going to step up. On Nov. 1 he will become farm advisor of San Diego county.

Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg made this news public today, revealing that the appointment was made by the board of regents of the University of California. Mr. Eastman will succeed Farm Advisor J. G. France of San Diego county, who is on a leave of absence because of ill health.

Mr. Eastman has been associated here with Mr. Wahlberg for the past seven years in agricultural extension service work for the University of California.

"He has made an enviable record in Orange county as an extension leader in the various groups with whom he has been in contact in his work," said Mr. Wahlberg today. "He has been identified principally with the 4-H agricultural clubs, the sugar beet, lima bean and truck groups of the county. He leaves a host of friends throughout the country, who wish him Godspeed in the new work assigned to him by the university."

Before coming to Orange county, Mr. Eastman was associate professor of soils at Iowa State college of agriculture, Ames, Iowa, and later with the dairy department of the San Joaquin county farm bureau. The 4-H agricultural clubs of Orange county are.

TELLS GUILT IN $24,000 SHORTAGE

Shearer, Captured In Fort Worth, Says He Shields No One

LONG SEARCH ENDED

Johnson Gave Him Cash To Cover Shortages, Says Official

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 29. (AP)—William B. Shearer, 74-year-old cashier of the state treasury of California, today told authorities that he alone is responsible for a $24,000 shortage in the treasury and added he had left his personal check for $19,000 in his Sacramento office to help cover the shortage.

He told District Attorney Otis D. Babcock, Sacramento, that he would "go back and admit the responsibility."

He insisted he is shielding no one—that there is no one who needs shielding.

Shearer was arrested here Monday after a five-weeks hunt that extended throughout the United States to Australia, Honolulu, Canada and Mexico. Mr. Babcock arrived here today by plane.

He was closeted with Shearer for several hours. He asked persistently:

"Do you admit you took the money?"

To this Shearer persistently answered:

"I am going to admit I was responsible."

Shearer told the attorney he had a safety deposit box in a Sacramento pool hall, but that when he left the box contained only $400.

Not Deceiving

He was asked why he flew from California to Fort Worth. Shearer replied he wanted to get here as quickly as possible, to look after some minor oil investments.

"I hope you are not deceiving me," Mr. Babcock said.

"I am not," said Shearer. "Why should I? There is no one who needs shielding."

"I came here from California to get at the bottom of this," continued Mr. Babcock, "and I intend to do it."

"That's all right," replied the elderly cashier, "I'm not going to fight. I'll admit my position makes it my responsibility."

"Are you guilty?" asked the attorney. "Did you take the money?"

"I rather not answer that at this time," was the reply.

Shearer said that his superior,

Garner (You Know, V. P.) Appears Before Emperor Of Japan With Shoes On!

TOKYO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Vice President John Nance Garner of the United States appeared in audience before Emperor Hirohito of Japan today with his shoes on.

That constituted an answer to recent speculation in America over whether he would have to pay his respects to the sovereign in stocking feet.

For two generations no foreign visitor has been asked to remove his shoes when he is ushered across the highly polished wood floors of the palace into the presence of the emperor.

The Vice President was clad formally in a cutaway with striped trousers and high laced black shoes, which apparently had not been shined recently.

Accompanying him to the palace were Speaker Joseph W. (Please Turn to Page 10, Col. 8)

JAPAN HURLS WATER BLOCK ULTIMATUM ADVOCATED

Make Formal Demand On Chinese Liquidation Of Enemy Elements

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)
TIENTSIN, China, Oct. 29.—Japanese military and diplomatic authorities imposed a strong hand over North China today with a formal demand on Chinese officials for immediate liquidation of anti-Japanese and anti-Manchoukuo elements.

Major General Harao Tada, commander of the Japanese garrison in Tientsin, followed up the ultimatum with a statement that Japan "fears for the welfare of China's 400,000,000 people as well as peace in the Orient."

Carrying out decisions reached at recent conferences of Japanese military and diplomatic officials in both China and Japan, Consul General S. Kawagoe submitted the formal note to Chinese officials of North China today, demanding "prompt and decisive measures to eradicate the various anti-Japanese and anti-Manchoukuo organs existing in North China."

The petition, presented to the board of education at a meeting last night, decided that another bond election will not be called unless a petition requesting it, signed by at least 1000 persons, is presented to it. Details of the school board meeting will be found in another article on page 7. The voters last month defeated a bond issue for helping to finance rebuilding of two structures at the high school, damaged by the 1933 earthquake, and for erection of a new high school shop building and an auditorium at the Lathrop High school.

Yesterday afternoon the council met at the board of education building on North Main street and authorized circulation of petitions requesting the school board to call the election. At the same time the group pledged itself to cooperate actively in carrying out any campaign that seems necessary to bring the movement to a successful culmination.

Comptroller Bars Many PWA Projects Under Federal Ruling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Administration chiefs checked up on their work relief program today—and found they would have to put around 2,000,000 more to work within a month to reach their 3,500,000 goal.

President Roosevelt invited Harry L. Hopkins, WPA chief, to lunch and arranged a later meeting with Secretary Ickes, PWA boss. It was understood the President was hopeful the task of transplanting employables from relief to jobs would be speeded.

Bans PWA Projects
As they met, it was disclosed that Comptroller General J. R. McCarl had imposed a temporary and possibly permanent ban against many PWA highway projects.

There are three ways under the work relief act by which highways may be built: 1—PWA may finance farm-to-market roads; 2—PWA may make loans and grants; 3—the government may give money to state highway departments to build federal highways.

May Not Be Used
Since the last method of financing is included in the law, McCarl is said to contend that PWA loans and grants may not be used to finance federal systems.

Street and highways are to get nearly $16,000,000 out of PWA's new $30,000,000. In each instance, however, McCarl is reported to have held up cash advances until the bureau of public roads say the project is not on a federal route.

'FARE' STEALS S.A. TAXICAB

Ira Verbeck, driver for the Broadway Taxicab company, Santa Ana, last night accepted a fee of $25 from a man who desired to be taken to Saugus. Mr. Verbeck picked up his fare at midnight near Fourth and Garfield streets, and began the trip.

Just before he arrived at his destination, the passenger thrust a gun against his back and ordered him out of the car. Mr. Verbeck was left standing at the side of the road and the passenger fled with the taxicab, which is the property of Wendell Williams, manager of the Broadway Taxicab company.

At 10 a. m. today, Assistant Chief of Police Harry Fink received a teletype message from Salinas which said that a man known as William Page had been arrested there while driving the missing taxi. Riding with him was a hitch-hiker. Both are held for Santa Ana authorities, and Page will be returned to Santa Ana to face charges of grand theft.

PRICE SET FOR HOSPITAL SITE

Disposal of the Tri-Counties hospital site, owned jointly by Orange, Riverside and Imperial counties, came before the board of supervisors again today with the possibility that the property, near Beaumont, may be sold for $1500 cash.

Chairman John C. Mitchell was authorized, on motion of Supervisor W. C. Jerome, to attend a conference of supervisors from the three counties to be held Monday in Riverside, at which time an effort to decide the fate of the property will be made. Mr. Mitchell was given power to act on behalf of Orange county.

Robert E. Dillon, Riverside county supervisor, informed the board that this county is anxious to dispose of the property and end further expenses. Formerly one of the best paying pear orchards in the Beaumont area, he said, the trees have been pulled out and the land is producing nothing.

Following the general meeting last night the water committee of the farm bureau met and discussed water matters to be taken up with the farm bureau board of directors at its next session.

Re-Elect Harold Grauel Leader; Protest Low Flying Airplanes

Here and There With

A. T. SMITH, San Clemente's busy mayor, has been bragging. Mayor Smith has plenty to brag about in his town, but he's picked out activities of the police department for a special boost for his Spanish village.

Clemente's cops, it seems, have set all sorts of records for being nice to people since the exposition opened in San Diego. More than 2,000,000 cars have passed through the city since the opening of the "fair," but the policemen have averaged less than 100 arrests per month, claims the mayor.

Their system works like this: If a driver isn't going too gosh awful fast, they give him a courtesy ticket. Merely a warning slap on the wrist which doesn't cost any money. Of course, if the same drivers were caught again, it'd probably be tough. Mayor Smith didn't say anything about that. No arrests have been made for a speed of less than 57 miles an hour, he says.

The courtesy cards ask motorists to observe traffic laws of the village. About five of these have been issued to each real, honest-to-goodness traffic citation. The only place in town where drivers can't mosey along at their own speed is in the business district. Arrests have been mainly for reckless or drunken driving, the mayor contends.

Also, Tom Murphine, jr., the police chief, and his men have set up an enviable record for recovery of stolen cars. They've arrested more auto thieves than any other city in Southern California. Not so bad for a city that everyone claimed was "police," huh?

AND NOW that motorists feel friendly toward San Clemente, residents are planning a grand blowout Nov. 29 and 30 and Dec. 1. From what Mayor Smith says, there won't be anyone left in the county's towns to carry on business during those three days. They'll all be down there celebrating and watching the movie stars and rodeo experts and gorging on barbecued meals.

The men's club is planning a "Days of '49" dance for the evening of Nov. 30 as part of the fiesta. The only thing we have against that is we're afraid they'll start another whisky contest. The club has such a dance every year and uses proceeds to buy Christmas presents for kids.

SEEMS like San Clemente is going to be a busy place, now that they've saved the old homestead from foreclosure. When the mayor and the rest of his community-minded friends get busy, they really get action. The town is going to be a "bee-hive of activity" for the rest of the winter, they claim. Sounds like they're right.

CALLED on Will Gallienne, Huntington Beach, to see how he lasted through the big wind. He was still there and still making plans for his town.

They're really getting started on the city beautification plan, he said. Some time ago they hired George Wardwell, expert, and he's making a survey of the community. When he's through a report will go to the city council recommending planting of trees at certain spots and other such suggestions. Then the work'll start.

We were interested to learn that Will recently gained national fame—not just county or state, but national, mind you, all because he was arrested for slipping through a traffic stop in Los Angeles. A guy named Winchell told on his radio hour the other night how the Huntington Beach man was arrested while going to speak at a peace officer's meeting.

Story wasn't quite right, according to Will, and he should know. He went through a signal, alright, and when a courteous but nevertheless determined cop started writing tickets, he told him what a law-abiding citizen he'd always been and how he had even made speeches before officers' groups. Thence came the Winchell story.

But the tough part of it is that the ticket cost Will 10 bucks.

Dr. C. G. HUSTON'S bicycle path through Costa Mesa isn't dead, by any means.

We hadn't checked on the matter for some time, so dropped in to find out how his plan is shaping up.

Nothing much new, we learned, but some action expected before very long.

The doctor's plan includes a graded path from Martin's airport at the end of South Main street, clear down to Newport Beach, all on the right-of-way where tracks were recently removed by the P. E. This right-of-way, the doctor contends, could be used to great advantage by youngsters—and their folks, too—for their bike trips to the beach, and they'd be out of the way of traffic.

Also, he pointed out, the old roadbed would be a wonderful place for bicycle races.

We're expecting to hear more from Dr. Huston before long regarding his plan. He promised.

Fullerton Mayor Is Victim Of 'No Parking' Law

FULLERTON.—W. L. "Billy" Hale, mayor of Fullerton, received a parking tag here yesterday.

City councilmen recently passed a two hour parking ordinance covering the business district. Police were also instructed to clear out the alley beside the city hall, and that was made a "no parking" area.

Mayor Hale apparently forgot about the ban yesterday, because he is alleged to have left his sedan there while he pursued official business in the city buildings.

Now he must appear before Judge Halsey L. Spence in the city court.

Loss of Center Cripples Bears; Bruins Bolster Reserves for Saturday

Column
Left!

By FRANK ROGERS

NEED CRYSTAL-BALL TO PICK THIS WINNER

Football yammering will concentrate on two teams and one subject from now until Saturday. The teams: U. C. L. A. and California. The subject: Will the winner grab the Pacific Coast conference title and play for the west in the Rose Bowl?

Answers are thick as flies, as varied as stock market prices and as free as sunshine. You may have your answer ready right now, but we're going to have a heated consultation with a crystal-ball gazer before we give ours. Maybe we'll even buy a crystal ball ourself and look into it for at least three days before coming up with a decision.

Stopping long enough to lick the wounds of that 33-6 beating, Coach Prink Callison and his University of Oregon gang have emphatically picked the Bruins to take a beating. Callison wouldn't be prejudiced by that rather unmerciful thumping, perhaps. Anyway he has played both teams and therefore is qualified to say something on the subject. California licked the Webfeet only 6-0 on a muddy field.

Callison sez: 'The Bears' chief problem is to stop Chuch Cheshire—a one-man team.' Oregon made 11 first downs and 241 yards from scrimmage compared to eight first downs and 238 yards from scrimmage for the Bruins.

'SLIP' MADIGAN
Slips in a Subtle Oar

Against California we could only chalk up 118 yards from scrimmage and passes combined. The Bear line will be too strong for the Bruins."

EYE WITNESS PREDICTS WIN FOR BRUIN GANG

Braen Dyer, Los Angeles sports writer, who saw the Golden Bears trample the Trojans, predicts a win for the Bruins.

Slip Madigan—the old Magician of Moraga—puts in a subtle oar by saying that no team on the Pacific coast will go undefeated this year.

And it doesn't help any if you try to look at the picture psychologically. Will the Bruins be keyed up sufficiently or will they slump, let down from a fast pace? Or will the smell of big brother's fur inspire them to new heights? We don't know.

Was the Bear only in stride Saturday or were they striving their utmost? How does the Trojan win affect them? Are they likely to take this Saturday's game too lightly? Or will they quake with fear and do great things to stave off the first defeat at the hands of their baby brother? We don't know.

In any event, the largest crowd of the season is likely to see the game—perhaps Oregon State and S. C. drew far more cash customers than the U. C. L. A. Oregon clash. Tickets, if you're interested, can be reserved at $2.20 per head.

HODGE PODGE OF SPORTING ITEMS

Dizzy Dean proved his value as a dramatic if well-rehearsed freak when he lured 18,000 cash customers to Wrigley Field Sunday. He looks like Bobby Grayson and plays like an All-American.

Offering Charles (Chuck) Cheshire, one of the big reasons why University of California at Los Angeles, unbeaten and untied this season, is threatening to win its first Pacific Coast conference title and earn the chance to play in the Rose Bowl.

The 170-pound halfback, tall, bold and loose hopped, is a triple-threat player true to the name. The Los Angeles youth has averaged 11.35 yards every time he has carried the ball, completed 8 of the 12 passes he has attempted and is an accurate and consistent punter, although he has not been called upon to do much in that department this season. He has scored 30 of his team's 90 points and two of his passes went for touchdowns.

Races 30 Yards

A senior, Cheshire started his offensive spree against Utah State, racing 30 yards to a touchdown. He played only 10 minutes of that game, carrying the ball eight times for an 11.75 yards average. Against Oregon State he meandered 78 yards to a touchdown and chalked up a 9.5 yard average packing the pigskin 18 times.

Against Stanford his average

South Africa has an elephant plague.

OFF FOR FORDHAM

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Traveling in leisurely steps calling for brief layovers in Arizona, Texas and Virginia and full night stops at New Orleans and Miami, Fla., 34 St. Mary's football players, their staff and 120 rooters were New York bound today for the Gaels' game against Fordham Nov. 9. Only the 10-0 defeat from California mars their record.

Allison Faces Task In Keeping Berkeleyites Keyed Up For Game

BERKELEY, Oct. 29. (P)—On five successive week-ends, Coach "Stub" Allison has "jittered" his University of California football team into an unbroken string of victories, two of them against conference opponents.

Today, cynical grid fans scutinized the record of University of California at Los Angeles, the Bears' opponent Saturday in the Southland, and admitted Allison's state of permanent pessimism would have to reach an all time high (or low) if his lads were to knock their brother Bruins out of a claim to the conference championship.

Hit by the ruling yesterday which declared George Smith, first reserve center, ineligible, the Bears grimly turned out for practice this afternoon "to see what they could see." Scout Walt Gordon was preparing to shoot his reserves against Allison's varsity with an assortment of U. C. L. A. plays. Bill Spaulding featuring the No Scrimmages brilliant Charley Cheshire's work. California knows it will have to stop Cheshire if Bill Spaulding's boys are to be subdued.

SPAULDING WORKS ON BRUIN RESERVES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29. (P)—Building up of his reserve strength to match the powerful defense of California's Bears is occupying the attention of Bill Spaulding in preparing his Bruins of University of California for Saturday's all-important struggle.

Reports drifting in from Westwood today that the Bruins won't scrimmage during the week for fear of injuries, were backed up by another report—that Billy Williams, right halfback, will be out of the Bear tilt.

Williams hurt his knee in the Oregon game, and will not be in uniform this week, it was announced.

Spaulding has a 31-man squad to work with, and of this number, 20 are rated as first rank performers. Whether the group—and some of them border on the edge of mediocrity—can stand up under the California battering is a problem worrying the U. C. L. A. backers.

ARENA IS DARK
Pending the completion of the now nearly finished roof, Promoter Sam Sampson has announced there will be no fight show in the O. A. C. arena this Thursday night. Boxing matches will be resumed next Thursday night with Long Beach's sensational Bud Holzhauser heading the card.

Prep Grid Spotlight Turned on 3 Fields

Santa Ana, Tustin and Fullerton will be the center of prep football interest this week-end.

While Coaches Bill Foote and Reece Greene are running the Saints through daily rehearsals for their Coast Preparatory league assignment with Alhambra at Polyfield Saturday, Tustin and Brea are preparing for the climaxing games of their County league campaign.

Dapper Dick Glover, successful young coach of Anaheim's Colonists, escorts his champions to Tustin Friday afternoon.

Burying by a 25-0 count the Garden Grove eleven that edged out Tustin, 6 to 0, Anaheim will be an overwhelming favorite, but Coach Bill Cole's Farmers can be counted on for a real fight. The game may develop into a two-man show, with Wally Fee of Anaheim and Lewis Tadlock of Tustin providing most of the excitement.

Brea has transferred its home game with Valencia to Fullerton Friday night. S. S. (Shorty) Smith's Wildcats, led by a triple threat back, Paul Ledbetter, clawed San Juan Capistrano 32-6 and Orange 7-0. Clarence Bishop's Valencians also are undefeated after 27-12 and 19-13 romps over Garden Grove and Tustin.

Newport Harbor travels to San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Beach to Huntington Beach, and Garden Grove to Orange for other County league battles.

Following their clash with Alhambra, Santa Ana's preps journey to Fullerton for their traditional game with Don Cruickshank's Indians Nov. 8. They complete their season with San Diego in a conference test here Nov. 16, face Pomona of the Citrus Belt league here Nov. 22.

GLENDALE QUINTET BOLTS SOUTHLAND 'Y' LOOP

Significant changes in the personnel of the popular Southern California Y. M. C. A. basketball league of which Santa Ana is a member were announced today.

Withdrawal of Glendale because of insufficient talent has left a vacancy which will be filled by San Diego, a new club competing with the Woolen Mills (Santa Ana representative), the Orange Concordians, Ontario, Pomona, Pasadena and probably Alhambra. Ontario is the defending champion.

Winner of this circuit will enter a play-off with the champion of the Metropolitan division, comprised of Los Angeles, Hollywood, Long Beach and 28th street teams, for the Southern California crown.

A neutral institution, San

Pedro's Y. M. C. A., will manage all league affairs. The 1935-36 schedule will be announced soon.

Opening play is slated tentatively for Nov. 22 or 25.

New Team Admitted

A new team, managed by Glenn Shook from Compton and representing the Giant Malts of Santa Ana, was admitted to the loop in a meeting of managers at the "Y" last night. Another outfit will be sought to increase the membership to eight, thereby avoiding byes.

Scottie's and Shell Oil must replay their opening game which resulted in a 32-29 victory for the malt shop last week.

M. M. (Buster) Devine, manager of the Shell quintet, protested because the quarters ran two minutes longer than the regulation 10. He maintained his club was ahead at the end of the customary 40 minutes of play, and lost during the final 8 minutes.

Tom Lacy, representing Scottie's, and other managers readily agreed the contest should be replayed. No date was set.

Game Is Tossup

The Garlock-Scott clash tonight is strictly a tossup. Both are represented by well-groomed, experienced outfits. On the Garlock crew are such well-known players as Ed Eastham, Saint regular, and "Chuck" Denio at forward; Bob Blanchard, tall red-head, at center; Sam Lockhart, regular Saint, and Manager Garlock or Solon Beall at guard.

On the Garlock crew are such well-known players as Ed Eastham, Saint regular, and "Chuck" Denio at forward; Bob Blanchard, tall red-head, at center; Sam Lockhart, regular Saint, and Manager Garlock or Solon Beall at guard.

Represents the quintet, Shook from Compton and representing the Giant Malts of Santa Ana, was admitted to the loop in a meeting of managers at the "Y" last night. Another outfit will be sought to increase the membership to eight, thereby avoiding byes.

Woolen Mills must replay their opening game which resulted in a 32-29 victory for the malt shop last week.

M. M. (Buster) Devine, manager of the Shell quintet, protested because the quarters ran two minutes longer than the regulation 10. He maintained his club was ahead at the end of the customary 40 minutes of play, and lost during the final 8 minutes.

Tom Lacy, representing Scottie's, and other managers readily agreed the contest should be replayed. No date was set.

Game Is Tossup

The Garlock-Scott clash tonight is strictly a tossup. Both are represented by well-groomed, experienced outfits. URGE SCHOOL AUDITORIUM BE FIXED

P.-T. A. Delegates Ask Education Board For Edison Hall Work

A delegation of 10 members of the Edison grammar school Parent-Teachers' association, headed by Mrs. R. A. McMahon, president, appeared before the board of education last night seeking action on reconstruction of the Edison school auditorium. L. F. Davis, 316 East Edinger street, acted as spokesman for the group.

"The group which I represent is strongly in favor of the rehabilitation of the Edison school auditorium," Mr. Davis said. "The place is locked up as the result of condemnation following the earthquake in March, 1933. We have no place to hold meetings in that district, and most of all we feel that its present condition constitutes a hazard to the surrounding buildings and is endangering the lives of our children."

Want to Know Why

"We have been told that certain monies were at one time appropriated by the state for the reconstruction of earthquake-damaged buildings. We also have been informed that every other school in Santa Ana has been benefited through this appropriation. Why didn't Edison school get some of this money?"

George Wells, president of the board, explained to the group that the matter had been considered by board members at great length over a period of several months.

"We realize the need of some action in the matter," Mr. Wells said. "However, the building never has been actually condemned. The engineer's report simply says that in the event of an earthquake similar to that of March, 1933, the building would be absolutely unsafe for occupancy."

Fund Not Enough

"We have $26,571 of the Green bill money left in the building reconstruction fund. It is not enough to make repairs which would conform to the state requirements. Frankly, the board is in a quandary concerning the whole situation. We are just as anxious as you are to have the auditorium rebuilt, but right now we just don't have the money."

On a motion by Dr. Margaret Baker, Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson was instructed to communicate with the state engineer who originally investigated the Edison school plant. He will be asked to come to Santa Ana and go over the building in question with members of the Edison P.T. A. Mr. Henderson expressed the belief that the building was fundamentally sound and that parents had no cause to fear for the safety of their children.

One of the most treasured relics of King Gustav of Sweden has been exhibited in Stockholm. It is the return half of the Venice-Rome round trip ticket used by Pope Pius X when he journeyed to Rome for the Papal election. Believing he would not be made Pope he bought a return ticket. When King Gustav paid him a visit after his election to the Pope presented the ticket to him. "I shall not need it now," he said.

MURDY WINS IN RHOADES CASE HERD CONTEST DISMISSED

Orange county dairymen of the Farm Bureau Contesting association today settled down to another year of effort to improve their herds following their annual dairy day meeting Saturday, at which winners in cow competition classes were announced. The affair was preceded by a tour of dairy plants, and was featured by a lunch at noon in Westminster park, where the afternoon program took place.

First place for herds with an average of less than 36 cows was won by A. C. Murdy, with Ned Clinton second. For herds between 35 and 65 cows, Peter DeBoer won first and Delos Patterson second. For herds of more than 65 cows, the winners were Segerstrom brothers and the Also Dairy. Certificates were presented to the winners. The competition is based on milk and butter fat production.

Jimmie High Cow. The high cow award went to Jimmie, 11-month-old cow belonging to Mr. DeBoer, which produced 12,743 pounds of milk and 759.0 pounds of butterfat in the year. Aggie, a 1-year-old Ritner dairy cow, was second with 13,071 pounds of milk and 720.8 pounds of butterfat.

The highest five cows were reported from the Also dairy, with an average milk production of 15,645 pounds and 662.1 pounds of butterfat. Second place in this class went to Peter De Boer's herd of five high cows, which produced an average of 13,711 pounds of milk and 652.5 pounds of butterfat.

Segerstrom brothers won the award for the herd with the greatest increase in average butterfat production per cow, the gain being 68.1 pounds of milk and 24.7 pounds of butterfat.

Directors Re-Named. Between 70 and 80 dairymen attended the affair, at which Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory gave his annual report on statistics of production for herds in the coexisting association.

In the afternoon there were talks by W. B. Woodburn, of the division of market enforcement in the state department of agriculture, and Dr. J. M. Tinley of the University of California. All directors of the coexisting association were re-elected. They are Ned Clinton, Cypress; William

ANNICE BRINK GETS AUTO STYLE NEWS

Annice Brink (Noted Boston Fashion Authority): "I'm trying to get a line on the latest style trends in motor car design, Mr. Sullivan. There is really a definite tie-up between style in motor cars and certain types of feminine fashions. Have you seen any of the new cars yet?"

James T. Sullivan (Automobile Editor, Boston Globe): "So you want a tip on motor car style trends? Well, take a look at the 1936 Dodge. They tell me it has all the features that built Dodge's reputation for ruggedness and dependability and gave the 1935 model its own special reputation for economy, but if you're talking about style, this new 1936 job is the handsomest and swankiest looking car I have ever seen. Dodge turn out. Take a look at it for yourself."

TENTS READY THIS WEEK

George Newcom, business manager for the board of education, last night informed board members that 21 of the 22 tent houses to be used at the Santa Ana High school had arrived and are being made ready for occupancy. He said 11 of the tent houses are now in use, and that the remainder would be ready for occupancy before the end of the week.

These tents were ordered as temporary classrooms by the board of education when several buildings, damaged in the March, 1933, earthquake, were evacuated. This action followed defeat of the $180,000 school bond election in September.

Lynn Crawford, principal at the high school, announced last night that the regular schedule of classes would be resumed Wednesday, regardless of whether the tents were ready.

Dr. Margaret Baker told board members she had noticed that one of the shacks had been painted green. The remainder are brown, and Dr. Baker requested that the odd colored shack be painted to conform with the others. Mr. Newcom told her that such an arrangement could be made.

BOARD SAYS VOTERS MUST PETITION SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

DECIDES 1000 MUST CALL FOR VOTE

Smith Suggests Pleas
Being Circulated On
3 Questions

When 1000 voters in Santa Ana affix their names to a petition demanding a second election on a school bond issue to reconstruct quake-damaged buildings at the high school, then such an election will be called. Until such a petition is presented to the board of education, there will be no second school bond election.

This decision was announced by members of the board last night, following an informal discussion of the question. No formal vote was taken on the matter, however.

The discussion developed last night when a committee of three from the Santa Ana local of the carpenters union expressed a desire to assist in bringing about another election. It was explained by the spokesman of the group that the union represented approximately 200 families in Santa Ana. He said his committee was in complete agreement with the chamber of commerce report on the matter, which favored another election, and which was announced yesterday at a meeting of the chamber directors, except that they were not in favor of eliminating the Julia Lathrop Junior High school auditorium from the program.

Hear C. of C. Report

Earlier in the evening, the chamber of commerce report had been read to board members by Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson. On a motion made by Rolla Hayes and seconded by Dr. Margaret Baker, Mr. Henderson was authorized to write a letter of application to the chamber for its interest in the matter and for its cooperation in attempting to work out a solution of the problem.

Ridley Smith, in commenting on the matter, called attention to the fact that approximately 4000 votes were cast at the bond election in September at which the vote turned down a proposed $180,000 issue. For that reason, he said, he felt that petitions calling for another election should bear at least 1000 names, or 25 per cent of the total vote cast.

Urge Three Petitions

"I am in favor of having at least three petitions circulated," Mr. Smith said, "one of them calling for bonds to carry out a program just as outlined in the last election, a second to call for a program of construction at the high school plant only, and a third calling for a direct tax to raise sufficient funds to complete the high school building project. The last petition would call for a method which would be temporarily painful, but we would probably

RIGHT OF WAY HEARING SET

A hearing on the dedication as a right of way of a five-foot strip of the Julia Lathrop Junior High school property bordering on South Main street will be held Nov. 12, following a resolution setting the date for the hearing passed by the board of education last night. The action was taken following a request for the grant by City Engineer J. L. McBride, who said the strip was needed for the proposed widening of South Main street.

Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner advised board members that it would be necessary to adopt two resolutions, since part of the property is held by the Santa Ana High school district and the remainder by the Santa Ana school district. He also advised them that it is within the power of the board to dedicate property either with or without consideration.

Mr. McBride told the board that to date he has 20 deeds to property for the right of way already signed, in which titles to the property are clear. Several other property owners have signed similar deeds, but the properties in question are encumbered in some way.

Santa Ana Valley Ebell Clubwomen, Kismet Sirri 'Talk Turkey' at Meeting

Girl Diplomat Tells Facts of Country

Questions, Answers Add To General Enjoyment; Delegates Elected

The truth about Turkey, its beginnings in the Thirteenth century, its development and its conquest of the East Roman empire—Turkey of yesterday, today and tomorrow was the theme considered by Kismet Sirri and Santa Ana Valley Ebell clubwomen at the club's meeting yesterday afternoon in Ebell clubhouse.

Because Miss Sirri, vivacious, small brunette Turkish girl who is a diplomatic student, made her discussion intimate and afterward talked with the clubwomen on topics they suggested, the program was generally judged of exceptional interest.

"The Mohammedan religion granted women more rights than those enjoyed by many European women," the speaker told her audience.

Marriage Customs Bold

"Boy and girl share alike in inheritances. Property given ax to a woman has always been her own to possess."

Customs of marriage in former days when the mother took the first steps to select her son's wife were described by the girl whose grandmother was typical of the old sheltered woman, whose mother broke away from convention enough to see her husband furtively before marriage, and who herself is touring the world, studying and speaking.

The harem has always been so difficult to attain and maintain that it has been prohibitive for many Turkish men, Miss Sirri said. Each wife must be equally treated financially and in all ways, and this is most difficult, she declared.

"Since 1900, women have advanced rapidly into public life and have been helped by the men of Turkey to take their equal place in the new republic," the clubwoman told.

Questions as to native costumes, coffee, customs and conditions were asked and answered. Mrs. Fred Rowland, who presided in the meeting, introduced the speaker.

Outstanding in the business session was the election of delegates and alternates to the southern district, California Federation of Women's clubs, convention Nov. 19-21 at Caldecott. Delegates are Mesdames Paul Bailey, Lelia F. Moulton, Charles Carothers, C. V. Davis, S. W. Stanley, George Briggs, Sam W. Nau and F. F. McDonald. Alternates are Mesdames S. A. Jones, F. P. Jayne, J. T. Wilson, Lynn Crawford, P. B. Gillespie, F. W. Wiessman and J. C. Lamb and Miss Mabel McFadden.

To Take Reservations

Mrs. Charles Carothers, federation secretary, will take reservations for the district conclave and for the county convention Thursday at Buena Park.

Mrs. J. T. Wilson announced the county garden clubs' meeting tomorrow opening at 10 o'clock in the morning in the Orange Woman's clubhouse.

Mrs. Frank Paterson, curator, asked those interested to sign up for a new club section to study antiques.

Mrs. C. K. Dodds, day nursery committee chairman, reported on the success of the recent nursery benefit party in the clubhouse and told of her gain of $100 for the nursery treasury. A portion of the money was contributed by one of the clubwomen to swell the total. She thanked all who assisted in party details.

Mrs. C. V. Davis announced Girls' Ebell to meet Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the home of Miss Marguerite Pimental, West Santa Clara avenue.

HUSBANDS GUESTS AT BRIDGE CLUB'S EVENING PARTY

Mrs. William Jerome, jr., and her bridge club members shared hostess honors in entertaining their husbands at a Hallowe'en party Saturday evening at the Jerome home, 2209 Greenleaf street.

Before the bridge play, cootie provoked considerable amusement, and Mrs. Jerome and Fayette Birtcher scored high. Mr. and Mrs. George Bradley were victors in contract.

Other guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Gilbert Meisinger and Frank Hilligass, Mrs. Britcher, Miss Doris Rohrbacher and Orville Schuhardt.

Y. W. C. A. activities on this week's docket are headed by the organization of a dancing group for young business men and women of the city at the Y. W. C. A. at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

One hundred and fifty invitations have already been issued. A provisional committee will be chosen to dictate policies of the group and plan the weekly dances.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Holmes, 1408 North Main street, is a Santa Ana High school graduate. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Smith of 120 South Broadway, followed his Santa Ana High school graduation by attending U. S. C. where he was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He is now employed by the city of Santa Ana.

The two couples had dinner at the Westward hotel in Phoenix and stayed there overnight.

Open House Is Held By W. D. Barkers

BY ELLEN SNEBLEY

With the E. C. Martins' golden wedding day scarcely out of sight, another Santa Ana couple celebrated yesterday at their home the climax of a half-century of marriage.

True pioneer stock of the sort which went into the building of California is that of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barker, whose home at 430 South Birch street was abuzz with friendly congratulations and reminiscences yesterday afternoon and evening at their golden day open house.

Mrs. Barker was Miss Katie Haddick when 50 years ago yesterday she was married in her father's home at Stony Ford, Colusa county, to six feet-four W. D. Barker, rancher.

Tells Wedding Gown

The young bride wore a slate silk-wool gown made with fluffy lace ruchu at the neckline, white buttons down the front and a draped bustle over a box-pleated skirt.

Yesterday she was smartly attractive in a royal violet cut-velvet gown with brief jacket and crystal and ruby clips and buckle. Nor is she only ornamental, for her years of ranch life with her husband, while they brought five sons into the world, have given her a liking for activity, and she still keeps her large home immaculate, does her ironing and is busily housewifely.

Sitting surrounded by golden bouquets, gifts and greeting cards, Mrs. Barker recalled years in Gridley, Butte county, where her husband did extensive green farming.

Of their children, three are still living. They are Roy Barker of Alhambra, formerly of Santa Ana; W. Ralph Barker of Santa Ana, and Sam Barker of Upland. Grandchildren include Gerald Barker, son of the late Charles Barker; Katherine and Madeline, daughters of the Roy Barkers; Joan, young daughter of the Ralph Barkers; and Barbara, daughter of Sam Barker. The three sons were present.

Mason 50 Years

For 50 years Mr. Barker has been a Mason, and Mrs. Barker will soon receive her 50-year membership pin. She was an Eastern Star matron in 1902 at Gridley.

"I do think being busy is a fundamental of being happy, married or not," Mrs. Barker said. "We've had a lot of joys and a lot of sorrow. I don't think I'd change my life at all. We had nothing to start with, but we worked and planned together, and that's the way to get along," she concluded.

Present at yesterday's noonday dinner in the James cafe in honor of the couple were their children, some of the grandchildren, and Mrs. Barker's sister, Mrs. May Clyman of Yuba City, with other northern California friends.

Mrs. Mary Schumacher and Mrs. Robbins, neighbors of the golden couple, presided at the tea table. In the afternoon, the couple sang duets. Mrs. J. P. Wilkins sang solos. Mr. Baker gave readings.

In the evening, Joan Barker, whose birthday anniversary is tomorrow, sang and did tap dances. Her father, Ralph Barker, also sang. Mrs. Barker played the piano. At 8:30 o'clock, the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, Congregational minister, re-married the Barkers. Joan Barker was flower girl, Ralph Barker sang "I Love You Truly." Old-fashioned dances by the honored couple climaxed the party. Mrs. Ross Grover played violin solos with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Barker, as pianist.

CHRISTMAS SEWING CLUB, NEW GROUP, HAS FIRST SESSION

Their object, the making of Christmas gifts and exchanging ideas on gift making, members of the new Christmas Sewing club met recently with Mrs. Mary Rowley, 202 East Tenth street.

The club was organized in the home of Mrs. Margaret Sudaby, Lemon Heights, Nov. 8. It will meet with Mrs. John W. Sauer, Mrs. Sauer and her mother, Mrs. Rowley, served pumpkin pie with whipped cream, salted nuts and Chinese tea.

Other guests included Mesdames Cecil Sudaby, Mrs. Sauer, Will Rohrs, Volney Tubbs, Margaret Sudaby, S. W. Sudaby, A. F. Hibbet and Arthur Koepel and Miss Louise Tubbs.

56 Years Wed, Couple Still In Love

BY ELLEN SNEBLEY

"I'd advise every young couple to get married and stay married for a long lifetime together," she said.

And, "I guess we're given to each other and never really fought—married life is the happiest after all," was his comment.

So Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Feits, the former Alice Louise Richards, were married 56 years ago today in Scranton, Pa., and have lived happily ever since.

Today in their home at 912 East Washington street, they were the center of congratulations and well wishes of relatives and friends. A granddaughter, Mrs. William Poh, jr., 609 East Fifth street, is going to a chicken dinner for them, with 20 guests invited.

The couple, who have lived in Santa Ana nearly 30 years, have three children living, a son, Frank Feits, of the home, a daughter, Mrs. Viola Rennie of Santa Ana, and another daughter, Mrs. Clara G. Hill of Los Angeles. They have seven grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Feits has been a veterinary surgeon. He and Mrs. Feits are well and of a contented nature, and among their "special" causes for rejoicing are the fact that as a bride Mrs. Feits was given by her father just as year to live, but she's still in good health and a busy housekeeper, and the knowledge that they have been able to make a signal success of their married life.

For her wedding Mrs. Feits wore a quaint frock of lavender material with a slight bustle and a long train. Today she is wearing a gay flowered silk frock, an anniversary gift.

The couple are still in good health and a busy housekeeper, and the knowledge that they have been able to make a signal success of their married life.

A HAPPY AWAKENING

THE JOURNAL was more than happy yesterday to learn that some of Santa Ana's foremost citizens had decided, after all, that we should have adequate school facilities and had come out in no uncertain terms for a revival of the effort to bond the district in a sum sufficient to finish the high school building program.

While it is too bad a greater effort was not made to carry the bonds at the time the election was held last month, it is better late than never that our citizenship should be aroused to a public responsibility. Failure of the issue to carry was not the greatest disappointment or cause for chagrin. It was the apathy displayed by voters which aroused the indignation of those who had worked earnestly to finish the job.

In this connection we are not in accord with those who say they were not informed as to the true purpose of the bonds. A very active and vigorous campaign was carried on both by The Journal and by numerous groups who made a house-to-house canvass to acquaint voters with what was proposed. There was little excuse for anybody not knowing what was to be done with the funds asked.

It was not until the board of education decided it no longer could carry the responsibility of housing students and teachers in unsafe buildings that an aroused populace began to realize the situation actually was serious. We hope it is not too late to correct the mistake, and we are gratified to know the board's position has been justified, at least in the minds of those who think and care.

MISCHIEF, NOTHING ELSE

JUST five days before William Randolph Hearst issued his warning to rich men to stay away from California, a formal statement came from Sacramento assuring all men in Mr. Hearst's position that the state income tax would take from them exactly the same amount whether they ever set foot in California or not.

Charles J. McColgan, state franchise tax commissioner, announced officially on Oct. 18:

"For the information of residents and citizens of other states (Mr. Hearst is a citizen of New York), who spend an indeterminate time as tourists or visitors in California, the commissioner states that the new California income tax act will not cost them one cent unless they derive taxable income from sources within the state."

"Nor will their sojourn in this state for more than six months during the taxable year, or the maintenance of a permanent place of abode within this state give rise to income tax liability unless they are actually and legally domiciled within this state, or receive income from sources within this state."

"When drafting the income tax act, the legislative draftsmen carefully considered the interests and convenience of non-resident visitors, and the act will not inconvenience or penalize them in any manner whatsoever."

As for income from sources within the state, it is taxable at the same rate whether its recipient ever enters the state or not.

Commissioner McColgan's assurance, given publicly five days before Mr. Hearst announced his departure, makes it clear that Mr. Hearst had given no consideration whatever to the state income tax in making his plans, and that his broadside against California was just a mischievous gesture.

THE MAN BEHIND THE SCREEN

THE IMPENDING execution of Richard Bruno Hauptmann brings to our mind once more a thought that comes to us frequently when a man is about to die as Hauptmann must die.

The thought is not of the victim, but of the man who throws the switch.

The death march starts. Other prisoners start their goodbyes. The little party enters the death house. The condemned man takes his seat in the chair. There is a hurried, yet careful, adjustment of straps.

A man behind a screen awaits a signal. It comes. He throws the switch. There is a flash of fire. A convulsion causes the body of the victim to tug against its bindings. Soon it is over. And when night comes, not one who witnessed the scene will sleep soundly.

The man who threw the switch from behind the screen. His day's work is done.

We wonder where he goes when he leaves the prison. Perhaps a wife who loves him and a little girl who awaits his coming will greet him in his home, somewhere.

And perhaps he will take the little girl on his knee, and perhaps she will say to him:

"Daddy, you are late. What have you been doing?"

And when he doesn't answer, perhaps she will put a soft arm around his neck and press her pretty cheek against his, and persist:

"Daddy, have you been working hard?"

And perhaps there will flash into his mind a memory of how the switch hissed as he threw it into place. A memory, too, of that thing writhing in the chair.

God, what a chore is his!

NINETEEN HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FIVE years after Christ and the best that civilization can do is to take human life as a means of convincing all men that it is wrong to take human life!

"Well," you say, "the only way to protect us from a mad dog is by killing the mad dog, isn't it? The only way to protect us from murderers is by taking the lives of murderers, isn't it?"

We do not know. We do not know.

We only know that not for all the gold in all the ages that have been would we be the man who throws the switch.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

When Ras Destu Demtu, son-in-law of Haile Selassie, the Ethiopian emperor, was in the metropolis last year, he stopped at the St. Moritz. Arriving around 11 o'clock from Washington, he had an entourage of five—secretary, advisor, companion and two bodyguards. He never smiled. Shortly after installed in his terrace suite he phoned the management he would like a local policeman to spend the night in a chair outside his sleeping quarters. A quick call to headquarters brought a sturdy, uniformed Irishman to carry out the request.

Ras Destu visited Radio City, the N. B. C. studios, the Empire State building and Washington bridge. He insisted always on walking if the distances were not too great. His advisor at his side and a bodyguard fore and aft. He never passed a beggar without giving an alms.

Broadway lights particularly fascinated him. All the wiles of press agency were employed to lure him into a night club, but he turned a deaf ear. His tips upon departing were fair, but not extravagant.

The literary world hears that Ernest Booth, discovered while serving a life term in California by H. L. Mencken, is, under a changed law, to receive his freedom in four years, having served 11. A ban on prison writing since 1928 has also been lifted, provided it does not deal with crime or prisons. During his long travails, Booth, one-time burglar, has devoted his available hours from rockbreaking in historical research of Byzantine literature, and is an authority. So much so he has completed a novelized version of the rise of Justinian's mistress from a mimic to the exalted position of empress.

A rendezvous of backgammon addicts is an intimately congenial booth known as Dimitri's, in a tumbling twist of Greenwich Village. Dimitri, an Egyptian, is an expert, and among his occasional opponents is Mabridi, recognized as one of the foremost authorities on the game. Among other adepts are Baron Wrangel, society scribbler, Courtney Burr, Ralph Owen, Prince Serge Obolensky, and Maurice Hecksher.

Backgammon, like mah-jong, was one of the short-lived fancies of the boom. But unlike mah-jong—are any mah-jongists left?—there are a number of enthusiasts who will quit bridge, badminton or ping-pong for backgammon. Some tell me the revival began on the Riviera the summer of 1927. Alexander Woolcott, also a croquet addict, is said to have given it impetus. Still another says the furor was really started by Elsa Maxwell.

The passing of DeWolf Hopper removed one of the popular members of the Lambs. When in New York most of his leisure was spent there and during his last years lunched almost daily at the Gem Buckle hotel, "Hoppy" had the trouper's contempt for late hours. He loved night, a cheery corner of a grill, and good fellowship, although temperate. At 77, when most men are thinking of the pipe and comfortable chair, he was busy as a bee. When the stage was shot from under him, he turned to the radio with all the enthusiasm of a school boy. And clicked.

HARD-BOILED

MILD-MANNERED Rex Tugwell, one-time college professor, is becoming the most hardened executive in the New Deal.

The other day he lopped 18,000

from the federal payroll at one swoop—a new record for a government agency.

The retrenchment occurred in an agency Tugwell inherited from Harry Hopkins, who had charge of rehabilitating impoverished farm families under the FERA. For this purpose Hopkins had set up a special agency in each state.

There was practically no central control over these 48 bodies, giving local politicians a heaven-send opportunity for rewarding deserving henchmen.

When this bloated machine was transferred to the resettlement administration, Tugwell discovered that 18,000 job-holders, drawing more than $20,000,000 in annual salaries, were administering relief to only 285,000 families.

Tugwell fired the huge staff en masse, turned over the work to the extension service of the agriculture department—an old, permanent government agency to which the job should have been entrusted in the first place.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—Italian claims of victory in Ethiopia should be taken with a generous helping of salt.

So far, Mussolini's men have not entered the peak-jagged central plateau, and have been relatively unopposed.

In reading all reports from the front, it is important to keep in mind the first report made to Mussolini by the Italian general staff. It specified that the conquest would require 300,000 to 400,000 men, would cost a minimum of about 750,000,000 lire a month, would require a minimum of two years followed by guerrilla fighting for an indefinite period.

Mussolini had figured on only 70,000 men and an expenditure of 250,000,000 lire monthly. According to confidential reports received here, when he received the general staff report he tore it up.

This was the reason for placing General di Boni, a notorious fire-eater not in sympathy with the general staff, in charge of the Ethiopian campaign.

Today, however, Mussolini is in a position to realize that his general staff was right.

Already he has around 300,000 men in East Africa. Money is being spent at an unknown rate; but according to the federal reserve board, the Italian gold reserve has diminished from $151,000,000 to $379,000,000 in the last few months.

If the league can make sanctions only 50 per cent effective against Italy, and if Emperor Haile Selassie can retain the loyalty of his chieftains for only a year, the Italian attempt at conquest may die aborning.

Note—Neutral military observers disagree with the Italian general staff in the matter of time. They estimate three instead of two years for the complete conquest of Ethiopia.

British officials estimate that Mussolini will have exhausted his cash in 15 months. American experts figure that he can't last that long.

McCarthy's varying calculations arise from the fact that he records only the actual amount of money withdrawn by the department from the treasury during a fiscal year. For practical purposes his figures have little bearing on the surplus-deficit controversy.

HARD-BOILED

MILD-MANNERED Rex Tugwell, one-time college professor, is becoming the most hardened executive in the New Deal.

The other day he lopped 18,000

from the federal payroll at one swoop—a new record for a government agency.

The retrenchment occurred in an agency Tugwell inherited from Harry Hopkins, who had charge of rehabilitating impoverished farm families under the FERA. For this purpose Hopkins had set up a special agency in each state.

There was practically no central control over these 48 bodies, giving local politicians a heaven-send opportunity for rewarding deserving henchmen.

When this bloated machine was transferred to the resettlement administration, Tugwell discovered that 18,000 job-holders, drawing more than $20,000,000 in annual salaries, were administering relief to only 285,000 families.

Tugwell fired the huge staff en masse, turned over the work to the extension service of the agriculture department—an old, permanent government agency to which the job should have been entrusted in the first place.

KEEPS PIPE, LOSES MATE

Washed overboard while clinging to a rope and then washed back on the deck, Captain Lester Newman of the Cowes yacht Oceanus kept his pipe in his mouth until he and it were safe. His mate, Ernest Broad, was lost in the waves. The deputy marine superintendent at Yarmouth, England, declared Broad's death accidental.
